Bowland high school uniform

Skip to content School uniforms—some love them and some hate them. So if you have a body that's a plus-size body, a curvier body, a very tall body, a very short body, those girls often feel that they don't look their best.* What this means is if you are not required to wear a uniform, you are free to choose clothing styles that are more flattering to your particular body type and coloring, which allows you to look your best. Students are also required to complete 80 hours of community service.Liberal Arts and Science Academy High SchoolThis Austin, Texas institution attracts some of the most advanced students from the local area. This choice could go mostly unnoticed in a school where uniforms were not required, and she could feel more comfortable in her dress choices. Some children are also uncomfortable wearing certain styles of clothing. That goes without saying. Teenage girls and boys are especially sensitive about body image, and feelings of insecurity in this area can have lasting effects. Mitch Diamond/Photolibary/Getty Images

The most common argument against school uniforms is that they limit personal expression. This Blue Ribbon School of Excellence in Jacksonville, Florida boasts a graduation rate of 100 percent.University High SchoolUniversity High School in Tucson, Arizona is specifically geared to preparing students for college. Let's look at some of the reasons those who oppose wearing a school uniform say it isn't a good idea. Applicants are selected by lottery.Skanton College Preparatory SchoolIB institutions often appear among the top 10 schools in America, and for good reason too: They have to meet world-class standards. ... Courses are project-based and collaborative, preparing students for academic or professional research positions. But its varied curriculum also includes the arts and humanities, as well as sports. Based on the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled in 1969 that "it can hardly be argued that either students or teachers shed their constitutional rights to freedom of speech or expression at the schoolhouse gate." The First U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled in 1970 that "compelled conformity to conventional standards of appearance" does not "seem a justifiable part of the educational process." Image Credit: Peter Dazeley / Getty Images It can be costly to buy school uniforms. So unlike in a school where uniforms are not required, parents have little control over how much they must spend on their children's clothing. Applicants are required to submit sketchbooks or portfolios and successfully complete an audition — regardless of their desired specialism.Gilbert Classical AcademyHere's one 'academy' that upholds the original meaning of that word. Refreshingly, something like 40 percent of those enrolled come from disadvantaged backgrounds. The top 10 high schools in the USA are some of the most exclusive. Applicants require a teacher recommendation, transcript and universal assessment scores. Many girls, for example, do not like to wear skirts or dresses, which most girls' uniforms require. Applicants (with teacher recommendations) are required to undertake preparatory courses, submit an essay and attend an interview at the Academy.International AcademyAnother International Baccalaureate (IB) school, Michigan's International Academy focuses on English, the arts, humanities, education and a second language in addition to STEM subjects. MORE FROM QUESTIONSANSWERED.NET It sends the message that being the same is positive and something to be striven for, the right way for the world to be, rather than a message that differences and independent thought and action should be valued. Additionally, it can cause an issue for children and teens who have questions about their gender identification. Hero Images/Getty Images Kids are very specific about what they are comfortable wearing. Some schools specify a certain manufacturer or store to ensure uniformity, making it harder to find competitive pricing. Kids and teens use they way they dress to express themselves and to identify with certain social groups. Getty/Digital vision In an era where diversity is on the rise and schools and society are attempting to teach tolerance and positive awareness of differences, requiring schoolchildren to wear uniforms emphasizes sameness and conformity. To enroll, applicants must pass the Cognitive Abilities entrance exam with a qualifying score and have an acceptable GPA for the past two semesters.Design and Architecture Senior High SchoolMiami's design-focused magnet school has an economically diverse student body. There's also an emphasis on career training through shadowing and internships.STEM stands for science, technology, engineering and mathematics — the foci of this International Baccalaureate World School in Downington, Pennsylvania. Its curriculum is rooted in the Socratic Method of teaching, emphasizing debate and critical thinking even (or especially) when it contradicts the teacher. Located in the eco-friendly city of Alexandria, Virginia, TJHSST covers a variety of topics, including artificial intelligence, quantum mechanics and marine biology. And straight-up comparisons are not as obvious as they are when everyone has on exactly the same clothing. But if you've got a bright kid (or indeed you are one), they're well worth the effort to get in — even if it involves moving out of state.Staten Island Technical High SchoolGranted 'Specialized High School' status by the NYC Department of Education, this school has a focus on technology. Other schools may require a variety of uniforms, some for daily wear, more formal uniforms for special occasions, and yet another outfit for gym class. The website CostHelper Education reports that a full uniform outfit can cost from $25 to $200 depending on the school and retailer, with a full wardrobe of uniforms ranging from $100 to $600 for four or five mix-and-match outfits. It forces them to conform to gender stereotypes in their dress; most uniforms consist of skirts for girls and pants for boys. Many students who are against school uniforms argue that they lose their self-identity when they lose their right to express themselves through fashion.The courts have even weighed in on this. JGI/Jamie Grill/Getty Images The website ProCon.org reports that Robyn Silverman, a child and teenager development specialist, told NBC News' "Today" show: "As a body image expert, I hear from students all the time that they feel it (wearing uniforms) allows for a lot of comparison. Application requirements include an entrance exam, essay, recommendations and a history of academic achievement. There seems to be a big rift between school uniform supporters and those against school uniforms. No uniform can suit all children, and there is little that can be done about this if it is an issue for your child. Some kids are sensitive to certain materials while others are opposed to buttons, zippers, and restrictive clothing. But a gifted or talented identification might suffice.Thomas Jefferson High School for Science and TechnologyFor any kid looking to excel in a STEM field, there's really no better high school in America, reports The Best Schools site. It encourages tribalism and the idea that having independent thought is not a good thing. There are also plenty of clubs.Carnegie Vanguard High SchoolAnother Texas high school, this one in Houston, Carnegie Vanguard boasts a 100 percent Advanced Placement (AP) pass rate. It shares a campus with Rincon High School, where University High School students may attend extra classes. For example, if a girl feels she might be more comfortable in boyish outfits, she is blocked from making that choice if she is in a school that requires uniforms where she is forced to wear skirts. So what's the deal?
